Allergen Transparency

Pure is now the starting point for all new product developments at Verstegen. The new allergen labelling regulations that came into effect in December 2014 have highlighted the need for greater allergen transparency, and have also created a lot more work for food professionals. With this in mind, please refer to the product list on the back page where you will see a list of all declarable allergens per variety.

Rest assured that where you see the Pure logo, these products contain no declarable allergens. To aid customer awareness you are more than welcome to make use of the Verstegen Pure logo on your own counter tickets. Simply contact us directly, or visit our website to download the logo.
